Quality, Compliance & Oversight (QCO)

February 15, 2023

Agenda

- Introduction to Safety Management Inspection (SMI) & Corrective Action Plans (CAP)
- Overview of MBTA Quality, Compliance & Oversight Office (QCO)
- What does this mean for you?

What is a Safety Management Inspection?

Federal Transit Authority (FTA)

- FTA notified the MBTA on April 14, 2022, that it would conduct a Safety Management Inspection (SMI) which covered the Red, Orange, Green, and Blue lines and the Mattapan Trolley.
- Report and requirements exercised oversight authority to put forth timelines for the MBTA to present their plan to address all issues raised in the report.
- Each Special Directive has Findings and Required Actions
 - MBTA responds with Corrective Action Plans (CAPs) for each finding

FTA Safety Management Inspection (SMI) Report

Special Directives (SDs)

- June 2022: MBTA 4 SDs that included 22 Findings and 22 Required Actions.
- June 2022: DPU 1 Special Directive
- August 31, 2022: MBTA 4 additional SD's that included 20 Findings and 47 Required Actions
- August 31, 2022: DPU 1 additional Special Directive

Immediate Action Letter

- July 30, 2022: In response to a July 25 incident of unintended train movement on the Red Line, FTA required the MBTA to conduct a safety standdown

Overview of Quality, Compliance & Oversight (QCO)

In response to the Final FTA SMI Report:

- QCO was established by the General Manager on August 31, 2022.
- To manage all actions and projects associated with the SMI report.
- Accountable directly to the General Manager.

FTA SMI Response Progress Summary

How does this impact the AEC Community?

- Track Maintenance
- PPE
- Workforce to Support Operations & Capital
- Safety Engineering & Certification
- Contractor Oversight
- Safety Information & Decision Making
- Operating conditions and policies, procedures, and training

What does this mean for you?

We're on different sides of the table, but we're in this together.

- The safety of MBTA customers, employees, and contractors remains our number 1 priority
- A great deal of QCO's work requires aligning with our contractors
- Regular communication is a key ingredient to productive engagement
- A safe, positive working environment further bolsters:
 - Employee job satisfaction
 - Employee retention
 - Organizational productivity
- High productivity leads to a better bottom line for ALL parties

What are the opportunities for the EDC Community?

We're Building a Better T

The T is evolving every day. As part of our $9.6 billion, 5-year capital investment plan, we're renovating stations, modernizing fare collection systems, upgrading services for our buses, subways, and ferries, and improving the accessibility of the entire system.
